Deborah Dodge is the managing attorney at the law firm of Hall Ansley, P.C. She is now in her 29th year of practice with this firm and is passionate about representing patients and families who have been victims of negligent medical treatment. Deborah finds it to be rewarding to be a patient advocate. Aside from her busy practice as a trial attorney, she is active within the legal community. Currently, she is serving on the 31st Judicial Commission which is a committee of five that assists in the selection of Greene County judges. In an unprecedented fashion and within less than twelve months, this Commission has had the responsibility in assisting with filling all six circuit court judge vacancies and three associate circuit court vacancies. Deborah is currently President-Elect of the Springfield Metropolitan Bar Association and is currently on the Missouri Bar Foundation Board. In the past, she has served as President for the Southern Missouri Women Lawyers Association, Missouri Civil Rules Committee and Missouri Board of Governor's. Ms. Dodge has an AV Rating with Martindale-Hubbell, which is the highest rating awarded by her peers for legal ability and ethical standards and has been designated as a Super Lawyer by Thompson Reuters. Deborah is married to her husband Todd and has two adult children who have also selected service professions as an Sarah is an elementary school teacher and Matthew is a foster child case worker. Camp Barnabas is Deborah's favorite charity. She served on its board from 2011-2019. She loves the cause as it operates a unique camp experience focusing on the talents and gifts of children with physical and mental disabilities.
