

Amanda Kastler

Amanda became a partner with Elliott, Robinson & Company, LLP on January 1, 2014, after ten years with the firm. She grew up in Camdenton, MO where both of her parents were educators in the public school system.

She started her college career at Central Methodist University on a volleyball and academic scholarship. After one year in Fayette, MO, she transferred to Drury University where she earned a degree in Accounting. Upon graduation in December 2003, she started with Elliott, Robinson & Company as a junior accountant. Amanda is the first female partner in the history of the firm and now shares her experience by mentoring and training staff.

Amanda has served on the Greater Missouri Leadership Foundation Board of Directors, the Harmony House Board of Directors, and Drury University's Breech Business Week Advisory Committee. She is also a member of the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, the American Institute of CPAs, and the Missouri Society of CPAs.

In 2019, Amanda was selected as Springfield Business Journal's Trusted Advisers of Class of 2019 and Biz 417's Women Who Mean Business. In 2016, she was named a 40 Under 40 CPA Practice Advisor, Springfield Business Journal's 40 Under 40. In 2014, she was recognized as one of the Most Influential Women by Springfield Business Journal. Amanda is also a member of the Greater Missouri Leadership Challenge Class of 2016 and Leadership Springfield Signature Class 30.
