

Carissa Codel

Carissa Codel is the morning news anchor for Ozarks First, also known as KOLR10 and FOX49.

Carissa went viral on social media for reading comments made about her appearance and "clapping back." These viral videos earned her features in People Magazine, the New York Post, and USA Today.

A graduate of Missouri State University, Carissa has lived in Springfield for nearly a decade and has worked at the news station for eight years. She started as an intern, working her way up from a producer, to reporter, to now an anchor.

