

Linda Merkling

Linda is a seasoned professional whose career journey is rooted in faith, purpose, and people. She is a natural relationship builder and community connector, she coaches and encourages women to grow as leaders while caring for their health, relationships, and spiritual well-being. She is passionate about cultivating strong team culture, and inspires women to lead with confidence, serve with integrity, while investing in professional development. She is focused on health and a journey of self-care, to pursue sustainable success to lead well, serve well, and thrive.

